JULY 2011 REPORT

July in Kenya is the coldest month in our calendar. It was generally a good month with its successes and challenges but with God being the Anchor of our faith and hope, we sailed through well.

Our 2nd term in class is over and we closed school today to start our one month break in readiness for our re-opening for third term on 5th September 2011. A term is made up of four months that include 3 months in class and 3 weeks to a month at home. The children closed school on Thursday last week, and on Friday we had our open day (where we have parents come and collect their children's report books and consult with their teachers).

Yesterday and Today, we had all members of staff come for general cleaning, staff meeting and also had the teachers prepare next term's scheme of work. We had lunch together before breaking for the holiday, hoping to see each other on the first Monday of September, God willing.

May we all continue to pray for God's guidance regarding the future and destiny of this noble mission even as I continue to pray that He grants me an opportunity to study in Early Childhood Development and Education, which I have come to realise is a key tool for the work I do with the children.

We are touched by your love, prayers, concern and giving despite the hard economic times we are living in, and pray that God will reward you greatly. We bless the name of the Lord for your continued support. Thank you and God bless you!

Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it.
